Friday 15h December 2017

Dear Everyone,

Well what a week that was, snow, ice, more snow and then more ice. Thank you all for your amazing tenacity in getting your children to school even though some mornings it has been incredibly tricky. Let's hope that we have a bit of respite for next week and any more 'weather' comes when we are all ready for our break and can relax in our homes.

We have everything crossed that all our activities next week can go ahead as planned. We will continue to do risk assessments with regards walking to and from the church.

The children looked fabulous in their jumpers today and so far we have raised £179.00 for Save the Children.

Here's to a warmer weekend!

Talk Topic:

This week's Talk Topic is:

the best and worst things about the snow.

You might think about all of the fun things you can do and how good it looks, but also think about the less good things-like cold hands! Ask other people for their opinions too to see whether you agree. Have fun talking.

Curriculum Newsletters Topic Newsletters.... Coming your way soon !!!

Please look out for the amazing curriculum newsletters that your children will be bringing home. These will give you a real flavour of the types of activities and learning they have been doing in the last term. There will also be an electronic copy posted on the website.

The topic newsletters will be coming out to you to give you information about the new topic and learning your children will be involved in in the Spring Term. If you think there is anything you can help with or a hobby that links with the topic please let us know.
